2 October - 8 October 2017

Championing quality plumbers and stamping out rogue traders

Research by the Association of Plumbing & Heating Contractors has found that:

79% of people choose a plumber based on their accreditations. Yet 43% do not check that their plumber or heating engineer is qualified and 29% do not verify their membership with the relevant organisation.

- Don't risk your personal safety and security, always check the credentials of the plumber you instruct.
- Remember, membership of a trade association ensures qualifications and standards are verified but always check membership is current.
- If you need a plumber, we vet our members' accreditations so you can be confident of appointing a qualified and proficient plumber.
